VOL. XV, No. 98

BLAIRMORE, ALBERTA, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1924.

$2.00 PER ANNUM

The local Rebekah Lodge held a special meeting on Wednesday night last on the occasion of the visit paid to their lodge by Mrs. E. F. Brown, of Macleod, Vice President of the Rebekah Assembly of Alberta. During the evening the Rebekah Degree was exemplified, which greatly pleased the Vice President and other visiting Rebekahs. The latter part of the evening was spent in dancing interspersed with solos and recitations.

Margaret Thomas, wife of Mr. Thomas, of Lundbreck, died yesterday morning at the Coleman hospital, after suffering for some time from anemia. Deceased, who was 32 years of age, has resided on the Ross ranch for the past four or five years, and besides the husband, leaves three small children to mourn her loss. The funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, from the Ross ranch to Livingstone cemetery, Rev. W. T. Young officiating.

BANQUET NORMAL STUDENTS

The Senior C. S. E. T. and C. G. I. T. groups held a banquet last evening in the Mission Hall, in honor of the boys and girls who are leaving for Normal and University. A program of songs and recitations was enjoyed by all, after which a series of team games were played. The elaborate spread that followed was due to be long remembered, due to the untiring efforts of Mr. Lewis Dunkley and Miss Louise Gresham and committee.

Speeches from the departing members, viz: Misses Marguerite Wiswell, Sarah McVey, Flora Warner and Mr. Wilfred Dutil, showed the feeling that they would ever carry with them, and though they were loathe to leave, they could not but answer the call to prepare for a greater service. Lindsay Carter told in a few words (a very few) how the entire group regretted their leaving.

H. Thoreson, R. Dicken and Mr. Young addressed the assembled banqueters in turn. Another guest, Mr. Thomas Hart, of the University of Alberta, spoke in closing, cancelling all doubts that Wilfred had, that he would not meet a better crowd than that which he was leaving.

The group spokesmen, wished the members who were leaving every success, reminding them that the club would be here when they came back, and inviting them to keep in touch. Auld Lang Syne closed the evening, all having voted a good time. Mr. Robt. Barnhill ably filled the chair during the program.

A meeting was held in the Union Church club room on Monday night for the purpose of organizing a young people's tennis tournament for The Pass. It was decided to hold the tournament in Blairmore on Wednesday the 24th of September.

BLAIRMORE WINS

CHARBONNIER CUP

This year's annual Pass tennis tournament came to a successful conclusion on Saturday evening last and once again the Charbonnier Cup rests in Blairmore, in custody of Rev. W. T. Young and John Rae of the Union Church club.

Beginning on Wednesday afternoon the entries were so numerous that the semi-finals and finals had to be left over until Saturday afternoon.

The Hillcrest team, two Coleman teams and four Blairmore teams were early eliminated, although every set was ably contested. Foote and Bennett, of Blairmore West End club, Lindo and Purvis, of Coleman, and Young and Rae, of the Union Church club, drew for the bye, which fell to the latter.

Splendid tennis was shown in the semi-finals between the Foote-Bennett combination and Coleman, but the last year cup holders fell in the last two sets, giving Blairmore the right to enter the finals with Young and Rae.

Semi-final score: 4-6, 7-5, 8-6.

Five full sets were needed to decide the winners of the final series; both teams playing a star game. Rae and Young, for a while bewildered by the slashing drives of their opponents, came from behind in the second set to win 9-7. They slumped badly in the third set and to all appearances the game was all the West End team, but the second set-back steadied the church team and they fought hard to win the last two sets, and the championship.

Final scores: 9-7, 9-7, 9-6, 7-5, 8-6.

Great credit goes to the winners of the Charbonnier jewelry in coming to the top on their second try. John Rae, youthful star of the Union Church courts, combining his aggressiveness with the veteran, Rev. W. T. Young, makes a combination that is hard to beat. The amazing work of this youngster at the net; his coolness in the pinches and his general all-round play is a feature to watch. The club to which he belongs may well be proud of the product that it has turned out.

MEDICAL SURVEY OF SCHOOL CHILDREN

Dr. A. H. Baker, of the Central Alberta Sanatorium, near Calgary, is in town this week, and with two nurses, Miss McMurray and Miss Lonsdale, is conducting a survey of the school children with the object of ascertaining the number of children suffering from tuberculosis. The survey is under the auspices of the Provincial Tuberculosis Association. Dr. Baker is being assisted in his work by Drs. Hackney and Hoar, of Calgary, while Drs. Lillie and Hoar, of Blairmore, will assist with the dental details.

Dr. A. Oliver has kindly placed at their disposal his equipment and offices where an X-ray and a thorough physical examination of the chest is made as well as the nose and throat. Approximately one hundred children, picked at random and with their parents' consent, will be examined in this survey for statistical purposes.

This is part of a general scheme throughout Canada, its object being to combat the spread of tuberculosis. Tests have already been made in Edmonton and Calgary and further tests will take place in a district north of Edmonton, at Medicine Hat, Lethbridge, and in the dry area south of Medicine Hat.

In England, preventative measures are proving so effective that it is believed that the disease will be stamped out within the next decade.

The present survey is being made without any expense to the parents or School Board and the results will only be made to the parents of the children.

In addition to the above survey, defects of the eye, ear, nose and throat are being looked into by Dr. Hackney, this under the auspices of the School Board, when every child will receive a thorough examination along these lines. Four hundred and ninety children have been examined.

BLAIRMORE GOLF CLUB

One of the most successful competitions ever held on the Blairmore links took place yesterday when the Hillcrest members of the club, Mr. and Mrs. Stevenson, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Cruickshank, Miss Sellen and Mr. Mackie, entertained the other members of the club.

The competitions took the form of a Tombstone Competition for Ladies and Gentlemen and Putting and Approaching Competitions, also for

Ladies and Gentlemen. The following were the winners of the very hard-some prizes presented:

Ladies' Tombstone Handicap—1, Miss Marquis; 2, Mrs. H. Congdon. Ladies' Putting and Approaching—1, Miss Farmer. Gentlemen's Tombstone Competition—1, D. G. Mackenzie; 2, W. Yird. Gentlemen's Approaching and Putting—1, W. W. Scott.

At a meeting of the Benchers of the Law Society, held in Edmonton last week, five Alberta lawyers were disbanded. These are: E. E. McCullough and G. W. Massie, Edmonton; R. C. Murphy, Dayland; J. O. Campbell, Calgary and J. V. Power, of Trochu.

Thought For The Future

Sojourning at one of Western Canada's lake resorts for his first vacation in several years, a business man spent his time in toiling under the trees and watching the waves beat idly on the beach. After several strenuous years of unrelenting work this tired business man wanted nothing but complete rest of body, mind and soul. And like a sensible being he went back to nature for it.

But as he lay under the trees and watched the water he soon became aware of great activity all about him. Squirrels and chipmunks ran and jumped among the trees and shrubs, while the water along shore and among the reeds was ruffled with the swimming and diving of numerous muskrats. These interesting little animals were not holidaying. They were intensely busy. Idly watching them, the tired business man began to study them more closely and found they were one and all engaged in collecting and storing up food for the winter, and doing so systematically and with the greatest industry.

The man began to think. He realized that nature had endowed his little wood and water friends with a sure instinct which told them that although the sun shone and warm breezes were blowing, a time was surely coming when the trees would be bare of leaves, the ground covered under a mantle of snow, and the waters locked fast under a thick layer of ice when it would no longer be possible for Mr. and Mrs. Squirrel to collect food, or for Mr. Muskrat to build himself a house. So they were busy preparing for the future.

And the man, as he watched at first unconsciously, and then deliberately began to compare his life and activities during the past few years with those of these little wild-life creatures. God and nature had endowed him with the same instincts of preparing for the future, but he had also been gifted with the power to think, to plan, to organize. He had been given a soul which would live on after his body was dead. The squirrels and muskrats were living an absolutely natural life and would pass on to their offspring their instincts of self-preservation and within a year their young would shift for themselves.

But what of the man? Looking back on his past year's hard work he realized that in many respects he lived an artificial life which did not tend towards maintaining and developing that natural physical fitness and strength of body enjoyed by the animals. He realized that his children could not be left to shift for themselves after the lapse of a single year. He was impressed with the fact that, unlike these little wild-life animals, he had to prepare not merely for a future consisting of a few winter months, but he had to look forward into the years and make preparations not only for his own old age but for his children until they had grown up and could care for themselves. His own health, the health of his children, their education and training for life, and the making of necessary provision for his family should accident or death overtake him, suddenly became vitally important and practical questions.

As a result of this at first idle, but later serious thinking, the man commenced to take stock of himself, of his business activities, of plans made for the future. Was he carrying sufficient life insurance to provide for his wife and to educate his children if death should mysteriously overtake him? Had he protected himself and family sufficiently in the way of sick and accident insurance? Was he even showing the same foresight as the squirrels and muskrats in making ample preparation against any vicissitudes the future might entail?

Further, did a man's life consist of nothing more than business, making money, and spending it for pleasure? Surely, with all the keener intellectual power, and a deathless soul which man enjoyed over the animal creation, a great responsibility rested on him to do much more than the animals and merely plan for self-preservation. Surely a great responsibility rested on him to do something to better conditions in his home town, province and country. There were crippled children to be given a fair chance in life, there were widows and orphans for whom others had neglected, or through adverse circumstances had been unable to make necessary provision; there were ex-soldiers and their families who had made great sacrifices for him and his country to whom he had to admit he owed a debt which he could never wholly discharge.

This man came to realize that his life, after all, was selfish and narrow, even thoughtless. He came to understand that the selfishness and narrowness was not intentional, but was the outcome of the thoughtlessness. And it is not true that this lack of taking thought lies at the bottom of most of the ills and sorrows from which the world of mankind suffers.

Forging Another Link

Start work on Port Arthur to Winnipeg Auto Highway

Actual construction work on the Port Arthur-Winnipeg link of the trans-Canada auto highway was commenced recently. A party of men have left Port Arthur for Shabunga under the direction of Road Engineer Meador, of the Ontario Northern Development Branch. Surveys for this road were completed some time ago. Mr. Meador also announces that the Port Arthur-Nipigon link of the highway is to be widened, and that the work on this link will be completed this year. Wooden bridges on the international highway between Port Arthur and Duluth are to be replaced by concrete structures. Seventy miles of new road construction was undertaken this summer by the Ontario Government in this district alone.

No Ticket Available

There being a Shakespearean repertoire company in town, a business man said to his secretary: "Send down to the Blank Theatre and get me two tickets for 'Twelfth Night'." Later the secretary reported: "I couldn't get tickets for the night you specified, sir. The company will only be in town six evenings."—Boston Transcript.

Man's Progress

Advance in Knowledge Results in Lower Mortality Rate

No slum family in Glasgow today is subject to so high a rate of infant mortality as were the families of Anglo-Saxon Kings. The contrast is very much more effective when it is kept within a narrower range of time. The dwellers in the worst slums of today run smaller risks of illness and premature death than well-to-do middle-class folk did not so long ago. It is facts such as this that confound those who deny the reality of progress. Health and life are the most precious treasures of the State, and when the dark clouds of sickness are lifted and man's useful years are greatly prolonged, who can say with reason that improvement is a delusion and good government a snare?—London Daily Chronicle.

Ten years ago grapefruit was almost unknown in Europe. Now it is coming into favor as a breakfast delicacy to England. The British love import large quantities from the United States, and brokers in London report that the demand is steadily increasing.

The brains of an ant are about the size of the head of a dancing needle. These insects live from eight to ten years as a general rule, although specimens in captivity have been known to reach the age of fifteen.

German Predicts

Bicycle Aeroplanes

Results Achieved By Gliders Give Encouragement to Idea
Aeroplanes that are driven not by engines but by muscular power, in much the same way as a bicycle, will become a reality in the near future in the opinion of a German scientist. The discovery that aeroplanes can be driven by gasoline temporarily halted experiments in flying man-propelled machines, but the results achieved by gliders, he declares, give new encouragement to the idea. The planes will have to be built extremely light, although at the same time strong enough to stand the strain, and the legs will have to be the driving force as the hands will be necessary for guiding. The scientist pictures the machine as a biplane, in the centre of which the pilot sits, on a structure looking much like a bicycle, and drives a propeller in the rear.

Pursued By Cameramen

Says Royalty Must Hate the Man Who Invented Portable Camera

The press is in danger of becoming a public nuisance, because of the scandalous way in which the Prince of Wales has been pursued almost into his own bathroom by cameramen and interviewers, "Oculus" writes in the weekly review, the Outlook.

"The Prince," the writer declares, "is a public character, but he is entitled to his privacy and to his private friendships, just as the rest of us are. This applies also to the King and Queen and Princess Mary, who can hardly move outdoors without finding themselves in the next day's papers. On official functions, this is well enough, but when private visits are concerned, the thing is an outrage. Royalty is proverbially long-suffering, but it must hate the man who invented the portable camera."

Are Returning Home

Large Influx of Canadians From the United States

What local immigration officials believe to be the beginning of a large influx of Canadians from the United States, is seen in the monthly figures issued by the department for August, which show that last month 351 persons entered Canada at the port of Windsor. Of that number 419 were Canadian residents returning from the United States, and 35 persons of foreign birth were returning to the United States. There were 356 persons refused admission.

At Walkerville, out of 56 persons admitted, 45 were Canadian residents returning from the United States, and 11 were of foreign birth. The majority of them, however, being from Detroit. There were 134 rejections. The general trade outlook across the line is believed responsible for the swelling back of so many of those who left their own land for work in Uncle Sam's country.

WHEN FOOD FAILS

Defective Digestion is the Cause and Misery Follows

There are thousands of people who do not get the proper nourishment from the food they eat, because their system is defective. Food is not properly digested in the stomach and is not properly absorbed in the small intestine. The result is that the food is wasted, but will ferment and poison your system. Flatulence and gas, indigestion in the throat follow and unless you are careful you will become a chronic dyspeptic.

By toning up the stomach to do the work nature intended, you will remove the cause of the trouble. Nothing will more promptly restore the digestive organs than good new blood. Stomach, nerves, glands all depend on the blood, and when it gets thin and watery they are at once weakened. It is because of their action in building up and enriching the blood that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have proved successful in so many cases of indigestion where ordinary medicines have failed. The new rich blood quickly tones up the digestive organs, and appetite improves and you are able to eat with comfort and get full nourishment from your food.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any druggist in medicine, or by mail at 25c a box. Write to Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Paris a City of Beards

"Paris was a city of beards," says a New Yorker back from the French capital, "of which there were 40 shapes, more or less, according to profession, from the rook type to the razor seldom used, and a battery of curling irons to put waves in the beard. Hair dye, brillantines and perfume were used on all self-respecting French silk hats."

Has Hopes For The World

Earl of Balfour An Ardent Advocate Of The League

The Earl of Balfour, in a recent debate in the House of Lords on the question of disarmament, professed himself as having some hope for the future.

The League of Nations had been in existence, he said, only a very short time, and yet it had produced a spirit among nations which had not existed before. This spirit was not merely an addition of the various frames of mind of the different foreign offices. It was a collective sentiment, in some respects it might be powerless or might run beyond the possibilities but it undoubtedly was something new in the world. No one could seriously look at what had happened and say it was an institution which the world could readily spare. As the spirit which animated the League went on he saw no reason to doubt that nations could come to see that armaments might be diminished. The fear and jealousy which nations, for historic reasons, entertained for each other would, he hoped, lessen in intensity, for if they did not there would be another war greater than the last, in which civilization would crumble in the dust.

He was hopeful that the disarmament for which they all longed would come gradually as the nations realized that the burden their armaments placed upon the world was too heavy to bear. He did not despair of that. He might be too optimistic, but even if he were he still said that the work of the League of Nations was a work that must be continued. It was said that the League had aspirations which it could not realize. But it was to be remembered that the League was working under difficulties which its authors never contemplated. It was not the fault of all the nations. Among the nations that were left out were three of the greatest materially, and certainly in two cases, spiritually, that the world possessed. Until they saw the League in its completed form let them not say that the original scheme was wrong, and do not let them despair, in face of what had been accomplished by the League in its limited state, and it would not yet produce a full harvest of peace. For his part he should always remain an ardent and hopeful advocate of the League.

Radio in the North

Great Boon to Settlers On Eastern Shores of Hudson Bay

The great boon that the radio has become to settlers in the northland is emphasized by Mr. W. Davidson, a prominent business man from Ungava, on the eastern shores of Hudson Bay, who has arrived in Toronto. Along the shore, says Mr. Walton, many stations have been erected, and although mails are delivered in Ungava only from two to four times a year, the settlers and traders are getting world news by radio as early as the readers of city newspapers.

Mr. Walton cites the case of a trader at Repulse, a Hudson Bay post, whose wife left last fall to undergo a serious operation in a United States hospital. Naturally, the trader was anxious to hear how she was getting on. In January of this year he was "listening in" and heard a Presbyterian clergyman in Pittsburgh state that he had been asked to mention to nicely after a rather serious operation.

Western Canada Big Winner

World Standard For Butter Production in the West

In a recent editorial the Winnipeg Tribune, writing on the progress of dairying in Western Canada, stated: "Creamery products from the western provinces carried off just about 90 per cent. of all the prizes in these classes at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto. The Toronto Globe, commenting on the fact gives all credit to the strong organization of creameries built up partly through the efforts of the western provincial governments."

"There is much truth in its observation. Government control of the creamery business in the west, in the early stages more particularly, did result in a degree of standardization and quality production that was the admiration of visiting experts. As the business grows more and more into private control, of co-operative character, the standards are being maintained and in fact improved upon. Whenever western dairy products enter into competition with the products of other parts of Canada or the world at large they reflect credit upon the creameries that produced them."

"There is one factor the Globe overlooks. It is the special quality of western grasses. It is not altogether a result of high manufacturing standards and modern methods that western butter is so high. There is a quality in the prairie grasses, a something nameless perhaps even to scientific minds, that gives an indefinable quality to the products of these grasses. That applies to beef cattle as well as to dairy products. It comes from the same combination of soil and climate that produces the finest hard wheat in the world."

"The creamery business in the west is steadily developing and advancing. When it attains the production possible to it, together with a higher degree of marketing skill and efficiency, it will become a world standard just as No. 1 Manitoba hard is and it will grow into a source of great income for the west."

Worms in children work havoc. These pests attack the tender lining of the intestines if left to pursue their ravages undisturbed, will ultimately perforate the wall, because these worms remain in an ardent clinging to and feed upon the interior surfaces. ## Practical Social Service

Western Canada Social Welfare Congresses of the Social Service Council of Canada

The people of Western Canada are indeed fortunate in having in their midst this year, the series of Social Welfare Congresses of the Social Service Council of Canada, which are to be held in the western provinces, from October 15th to 25th inclusive. They are to be great gatherings, and inasmuch as they are the first of the kind to be held in the west, they will be the source of much inspiration and profit to all forward-looking Canadians who are working for the best that can be in practical social service.

Eight distinguished visiting speakers of national reputation representing both Protestant and Roman Catholic Churches will be heard at each place. Besides local speakers of outstanding ability, and ample time is to be allowed for discussion following each address.

The subjects will include most of the vital social problems with which we are working, and as a result of social service are only too familiar. Some of these are: The Underprivileged Child; Religious and Social Welfare; The Community and Social Welfare; The Delinquent Boy; The Delinquent Girl; The Social Disease; Habit-forming Drugs; The Problem of the Mentally Defective; International Relations, etc. Each subject will be treated by a specialist.

The places and dates are as follows: Vancouver and Victoria (simultaneous), Oct. 15th and 16th; Calgary and Edmonton (simultaneous), Oct. 16th and 17th; Regina and Saskatoon (simultaneous), Oct. 23rd and 24th; Winnipeg and Brandon (simultaneous), Oct. 23rd and 24th.

The Western Congresses will satisfy a real need in the west, providing as they do great forums within easy reach of all western Canadians, for the social problems of the continent which all Canada is facing today in common with many nations.

No Oil in Philippines

After long prospecting for oil in the Philippines the Standard Oil Company has abandoned its workings. There has been a belief that oil would be found on the Bondog Peninsula of the island of Luzon, but three wells drilled to depths up to five thousand feet failed to show any.

Describes Russia As Seething Slum

Squalor and Filth Seen Everywhere

Says American Novelist

All Red Russia is a seething slum, according to Fannie Hurst, the American novelist, who arrived in Paris from Moscow. She described Sovietism as a great, beast, half stupid, half mad, on its back in death agony. Two months ago she was an ardent Marxist and an enthusiastic defender of the Communist revolution. She is selling a sadder but wiser woman, and ready, according to her own statement, "to climb down from the soap box forever." In all the reign of terror only one man—Trotsky—came to have the white light of inspiration, says Mrs. Hurst. She said: "In everyone's face you see nothing but fear, overwhelming fear. Lenin and Moscow today seem as though people from Cherry and Allen Street, in New York, have moved from their slums to Park Avenue and continued to harg clothes from the front windows, put coal in the bathtubs and never bother to repair the streets."

"Russia is still chaos, with poverty among the bourgeois as well as the professional classes, and squalor and filth everywhere."

The Oil of the People—Many oils have come and gone, but Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil continues to maintain its position and increase its sphere of usefulness each year. Its sterling qualities have brought it to the front and kept it there, and it can truly be called the oil of the people. The sands have benefited by it and would use no other preparation.

Growth Of Vancouver

City Shows Remarkable Increase During Last Twelve Years

The Vancouver Province publishes some remarkable facts showing the progress of the city. Its population, which was 100,001, according to the census of 1911, is now estimated in the directory at 247,125; and this estimate is supported by figures showing the customers for water and light service. In 1912 no wheat was exported. Last year the export was $4,619,185 bushels. The number of ocean-going vessels visiting Vancouver was 144 in 1912 and 327 last year. In the same period the value of manufactured products has grown from $17,470,000 to nearly $300,000,000—Toronto Globe.

LYDD GEORGE CONDEMNNS ACT WITH RUSSIANS

Penneshaw, Wales.—In a most important declaration on the Anglo-Russian treaty made in a speech here, former Premier Lloyd George said the treaty was a fake and folly which had been "hastily pitched up" at the end of the recent session of Parliament because "Premier MacDonald had been held up" by the socialist gunmen of his own party.

The former premier said that it was an act of criminal recklessness at such a time to guarantee huge sums of money to be spent in another country by a Government whose principles were predatory.

Mr. Lloyd George said he recognized that in voting against the guarantee the Liberals were not acting like the Government on a major issue which was an integral part of the Government's programme, but if the Liberals shirked that challenge they would forfeit the nation's confidence and respect. He obviously considered that the Liberals will join the Conservatives in defeating the Government on the Anglo-Russian treaty when it comes before Parliament for ratification, as the Government will be obliged to treat the vote as one of no-confidence and be compelled to resign.

Referring to the Irish boundary question, Mr. Lloyd George said that Lord Birkenhead's letter to the Earl of Balfour, interpreting the Irish treaty as providing for a boundary commission to settle on any future basis, rather than to consider transferring large sections of Ulster to the Irish Free State, seemed to him to contain the only responsible interpretation of the boundary clause of the Irish treaty, and he expected to stand by this letter and all it contained.

Promises Naval Assistance

Britain Ready to Use Navy to Secure World Peace.
Geneva.—The representatives of the Little Entente have been informed that Great Britain will not only stand ready to extend economic penalties against any aggressor state but will also, subscribe to a general agreement to afford naval assistance to maintain world peace. It was stated on good authority here.

This assurance has created a favorable impression among the smaller European states and has strengthened the idea already prevalent in league circles that England and France are closer than some people think to a settlement of the problem of security which the French insist must precede any acceptance of compulsory arbitration.

Radio Broadcasting in Russia

Now Permitted By Soviet Government Under Certain Restrictions

Moscow.—Radio broadcasting was introduced to the Russian public for the first time, when the council of people's commissars announced that it was permitting the manufacture and use under the supervision of the commissariat of posts and telegraphs of commercial and home-made receiving sets. The public is permitted to receive only general broadcast or information sent out by government stations, including informative speeches, reports, concerts, weather bulletins and time signals, and it is forbidden to intercept or use for private purposes official government matter or information intended for the press. It also is restricted from picking up matter disseminated by foreign wireless stations.

Pat Ban On Sale Of Extracts To Indians

Edmonton.—The immense sale to Indians and half-breeds in the north of the province during the past few years of various "extracts" which contain a large percentage of alcohol, but which sale was not in the least illegal, is given by the Liquor Control Board as the underlying reason for the order-in-council recently issued which prohibits the future sale of these extracts, except through the Government vendors. The sale of these extracts has been a constant source of complaint by Indian Agents and the Provincial Police, and it is stated that thousands of dollars' worth of these extracts have been taken to the north for sale every season.

Economic Conference Held At Regina

Premier Dunning States Activities of Provincial Debt Adjustment Bureau Will Be Extended

Regina, Sask.—Rejecting as constitutionally impossible the debt adjustment scheme presented to the Saskatchewan Government by the farmers' organizations in the province recently, Premier Dunning announced at the economic conference here, the Government's intention of extending the activities of the Provincial Debt Adjustment Bureau.

Representatives of the bureau will be stationed in the sheriff's office in each of the 23 judicial districts of the province to act as agents and advisers for hard-pressed farmers and to assist them out of their difficulties.

The debt adjustment commissioner has been asked to stress more than ever before upon creditors, the necessity in certain cases of adopting a "funding scheme" with a view to making mutual settlements of a permanent character.

Has Not Replied To Canada's Offer

Proposed Trade Agreement With Australia Is Still Unsettled

Ottawa, Ont.—Hon. J. A. Robb, Acting Minister of Finance, said that there was no change in the position of Canada relating to a trade agreement with Australia.

Whether or not there was any change in the attitude of Australia, he could not say, merely remarking that the Australian Parliament was now in session.

"We are anxious to give Australia all the advantages we can in the Canadian market," he said, summing up the position of Canada.

Must Be Agricultural Workers

Jews Entering Canada Will Be Subject To Immigration Restrictions

Ottawa.—Jewish refugees from Russia seeking entry into Canada will be subject to the same restrictions as non-Jews, namely, that they must qualify as agricultural workers and give reasonable assurance that they intend to remain in the rural districts of Canada. This was the dictum of the Minister of Immigration, Hon. J. A. Robb, who received a delegation of steamship men which asked for a ruling on the status, under the Canadian immigration law, of Hebrew citizens of Russia now resident in Russia or the Near East. Many of these, it is understood, sought entry into Canada, but were unable to qualify as agricultural workers.

In declining to enlarge the field of immigration in this class, it is presumed that the immigration department in Canada has pledged its aid to the United States Government that everything will be done at Canadian ports to prevent the immigration of Europeans who seek to use Canada as a gateway to the United States as a means of evading the restrictions of that country's immigration law.

CANADA AND U. S. TO FIGHT RUST MENACE

Winnipeg.—Co-operation of United States and Canadian expert agricultural scientists in the war on the rust menace is assured following a two-days' conference here. A committee on international co-operation was appointed, and a tentative programme drawn up. As a result of the meetings here, it is understood that a similar conference will be held either in Wisconsin or North Dakota in the near future.

Increased Federal Government aid and closer co-operation of provincial organizations in the campaign of rust eradication will be another important result of the meetings.

For the prosecution of the campaign, Hon. Mr. Motherwell, Dominion Minister of Agriculture, expressed a hope that he would be able to get an appropriation of $50,000 for the work, as against the $25,000 set aside for it last year. Representatives of Western Canadian universities also pledged the support of their scientific staffs to the work, and Dr. H. M. Torg, Chairman of the Dominion Research Council, intimated that some of the funds of the council might be put at the disposal of the executive.

"Why cannot economic and fiscal questions of international importance be discussed around a table of equal frankness and the same amiable spirit as the mutual problem of rust control?" asked Hon. F. M. Black, Provincial Treasurer, speaking at a conference luncheon. He would be delighted at the "who-ho" of the operation of the Central States, and deplored the fact that fiscal conditions, of which those in the United States had frankly been very frank in a similar manner.

Prof. H. L. Bailey, of the University of North Dakota, suggested introducing nurseries for rust hosts, excepting barberry and buckthorn, of which the pernicious nature was already known.

Prof. Bailey was supported by several other speakers. It was concluded that such nurseries would afford better opportunity to study the problem under field conditions and greenhouse conditions.

Approves Empire Conference Bloemfontein, South Africa.—J. H. Thomas, British Colonial Secretary, said that while the invitation sent to the Imperial Government to the South African Government to participate in an Empire conference at London had not been accepted, he was glad to state that during a personal interview he had with Premier Herriot, the latter declared his Government would accept the invitation and South Africa would be represented.

Saskatchewan Pool Wheat For U.S. Regins. Sask.—Arrangements are being made to handle Saskatchewan pool wheat in the United States. It was announced following a meeting of the directors.

Particular reference, it was stated, is being paid to Bobbie and Whittall, Montana, and Harry Marsh, Herschel, Sask., a member of the executive of the pool organization. It was said of the line "carrying on negotiations."

Prominent Personages Coming Montreal.—The Duchess of Arthol, M.P. for Kinross and Western Perth in the British House, and Mrs. Philip Williams, wife of the Chancellor of the Exchequer, have accepted invitations to visit this fall, under the auspices of the National Council of Education.

Cancels Trip To Pole

ROALD AMUNDSEN Arctic explorer, who filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy, has definitely cancelled his projected aerial trip to the North Pole, and has requested that his estate be placed under a public receiver, so that he can get his financial difficulties straightened out in full view of the public. He considers himself solvent.

Chicago Slayings Sentenced Get Life Imprisonment For Murder Of Bobbie Franks Chicago.—Exactly 112 days from the afternoon they kidnapped Bobbie Franks from the street, killed him, threw acid on his face to destroy his features, and thrust his abused body into a swamp culvert, Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, self-styled super-intellectuals and heirs to many millions, were packing up their prison belongings preparatory to the journey to the Northern Illinois penitentiary at Joliet, where, unless the pardon and parole board intercedes, or they escape, they will remain for approximately 33 years.

They were sentenced to life imprisonment on the murder charge, and to 99 years on the kidnapping charge, and Judge Caverly stipulated that they were not to be eligible to parole.

Attorneys differ on the number of years that must elapse before they can be paroled. Some hold they can regain their liberty in about 25 years, but Clarence Darrow, chief of counsel for the defense, argues that they must spend 33 years and some months in the penitentiary.

Spanish Nobility Coming Party Will Make Tour of Canada This Month Montreal.—The Duke of Alba, 17th of that name and tenth Duke of Berwick in the British nobility; the Duchess of Alba, the Duke and Duchess of Penedra, the Marquis de Paredes, master of the horse to the crown of Spain, and the Marquis de Coquella, personal friends of the King of Spain, with several friends, are about to visit Canada. It was learned here.

The party will travel in Canada over Canadian Pacific Railway lines. Following several weeks' stay in New York they will leave the United States on the 14th for Niagara Falls, thence they will proceed to Toronto, Banff, Lake Louise, Sicamous, Vancouver and Victoria, exploring the beauties of the Canadian Rockies enroute.

From Victoria they will go to Seattle and will then make an extended tour of the United States.

Business Improving In Ruhr Restrictions Under France-Belgian Occupation Have Been Removed Dortmund.—With the removal of the customs barrier and the other economic restrictions which had been imposed by the Franco-Belgian occupational authorities in the Ruhr area, a marked improvement in business activity has set in.

A resumption of normal railway traffic is viewed as one of the immediate benefits resulting from the abolition of the hitherto burdensome course of road work. Last year, while in training, they concentrated on military instruction.

Unemployment In Britain London.—For the eighth successive week the unemployment return for Great Britain showed an increase last week, namely, 13,662. In two months the increase in the number of unemployed has been 137,000 and the total now is 1,162,000.

Delegates At Geneva Are Striving For Peace

Geneva.—The Governments of thirteen countries have decided that it is more important to face their foreign ministers at Geneva following the discussions on obligatory arbitration, security and disarmament than to have them stay at home and conduct the general routine of foreign affairs. These thirteen ministers are sitting side by side, engaged in the hardest kind of committee work in stifling committee rooms, trying to lend a helping hand in the effort to put peace in Europe on a solid foundation. In addition to the foreign ministers there are nine ministers who hold other portfolios for the Governments of various countries and some thirty or forty statesmen, who have been premiers or foreign ministers during their careers.

Insurgents Fighting Soviets

Georgian Republic Demanding Recognition Of Their Independence

Constantinople.—The struggle between the Insurgents and the Soviet forces in the Georgian Republic is continuing fiercely according to the latest news reaching here. The Insurgents hold the principal Trans-Caucasian railway, which runs through Tiflis to Baku.

Martial Law has been proclaimed throughout the Caucasus and Soviet troops are being hurried to Georgia.

Georgia was a part of the old Russian Empire, but refused to recognize the Bolsheviks when the latter overthrew the Kerenskys. The Georgians formed a separate state, proclaiming their independence in May, 1918, and receiving their due recognition by the allies in 1921.

Later in 1921, a revolution occurred and a Soviet Government was set up. The Georgian Insurgents are demanding recognition of their independence from the Soviet regime. Their president, who is now in Paris, has asked the intervention of the League of Nations to stop the bloodshed and has offered to submit the independence issue to arbitration.

READY TO SUBMIT ALL DISPUTES TO ARBITRATION

Geneva.—Great Britain stands by the League covenant, which provides for the submission of all disputes to the arbiters to preserve peace. This declaration was made by Lord Parmoor, representing the British Government, after the disarmament committee debate on arbitration, security and disarmament.

In a statement to representatives of the press of the world, Lord Parmoor affirmed that Great Britain meant what she said when, through the lips of her Prime Minister, Ramsay MacDonald, she declared her readiness to submit all disputes to arbitration. He added that the words "all disputes" included those usually characterized as questions affecting vital interests and national honor.

Lord Parmoor qualified his statement by remarking that the terms "vital interests" and "national honor" were exceedingly vague, but went on to say that a way must be found to handle every possible cause of conflict between nations.

The British statement concluded that, after all, the League covenant covered pretty nearly everything, and it was only necessary to clarify certain points, and perhaps generally strengthen the covenant.

Lord Parmoor's statement caused great pleasure among the French delegates, where it created the impression, as did his remarks before the committee, that when the time comes the British delegation will present detailed resolutions on arbitration, security and disarmament.

Rains Have Spoiled Crops In France Quantity and Quality Have Both Been Seriously Affected

Paris.—The Temps states that the incessant rain of the past two months have seriously affected the yield of grain both as to the quantity and quality. The deficiency will have to be made good by purchases abroad, the Temps warns the people, and this will have a most effect upon the French exchange.

It was estimated a few weeks ago, says the Temps, that the French purchases of foreign cereals the coming year would not exceed 10,000,000 quintals on an average of 220.46 points, but it is now certain that this estimate will be largely exceeded. The wheat trade itself believes that twice this quantity will have to be bought abroad.

Hindooes Prefer German Colleges Hannover.—A conspicuous increase in the number of Hindoo students in German universities is reported since the end of the World War. Anti-British feeling, said to exist among the young Hindoo students, is given as the reason for their preference for German educational institutions.

To Oust The Foreigner Victoria, B.C.—That the imposition of the 100 per cent. luxury tax by the Japanese Government is a direct effort to oust the foreigner from Japan, was the opinion expressed by Stewart Fulton, a journalist, who has returned from a trip of the Far East.

GRAIN EXCHANGE HEAD COMMENTS ON WHEAT POOL

Winnipeg.—In his retiring address, President James Richardson, at the annual meeting of the Grain Exchange, dealing with the pool system of marketing wheat, declared that it was difficult to make exact comparisons with the success of the Alberta pool and marketing through the Grain Exchange.

"We can say with some certainty that the announcements made by the pool, however, have clearly indicated a desire to try to show the operations in a most favorable light, but have not supplied all the facts necessary for a judgment on the results," Mr. Richardson said.

"I must confess," he added, "that we have so far seen nothing to justify the claim that the Saskatchewan pool has given the Alberta producers any better price than established methods could and did give."

Continuing, Mr. Richardson asserted that the grain trade not only recognized the right of the farmer to carry out this experiment, but it had placed its elevators, stacks and experience at the disposal of the pool at lower rates than otherwise could have been obtained.

"Similar experiments will be made this season in Saskatchewan and Manitoba and it will not be very long until the wisest of teachers, experience, will have decided the issue," he said.

"While we are keeping an open mind on the subject we are not yet convinced that this is the way to step along the road of sound economic progress."

Referring to the feature of Government regulation of wheat marketing through the Board of Grain Commissioners, Mr. Richardson said:

"We do not think it will be an easy matter to extend the regulation of the grain trade by legislation very far, without a conflict between such regulations and operation of the farmers' co-operative companies. We are of the opinion that it is not an easy matter to devise legislation controlling an international business, and we are inclined to think that since farmers themselves have created agencies of their own for handling of grain, our legislators would be well advised to move with caution."

Vancouver Harvesters

Coast City Supplied Many Workers For Prairie This Season

Vancouver.—Vancouver supplied more harvesters for the handling of the crop on the prairies this fall than at any other points in British Columbia.

The Government bureau supplied 5,264 men and 200 women. Of this total, 3,624 men went from Vancouver, Victoria was second, with 508.

The statistics reveal that the majority of the British Columbia men went to Saskatchewan. The figures show that of the 5,264 men sent, 3,324 were dispatched to Saskatchewan, 1,884 to Alberta, and 56 to Manitoba.

Oppose Burying Unknown Soldiers Berlin.—On the tenth anniversary of the beginning of the world war a movement was launched for the erection of a national monument in Berlin to the memory of the soldiers who died as an outcome of the conflict.

There have been several proposals to erect a monument to the unknown soldier, with proper ceremonies on behalf of the unknowns, but the Government opposed the idea on the ground that to do so would be following too closely in the footsteps of the allied nations, where the custom originated.

Pays Big Damages Vancouver.—One of the biggest damage awards in the British Columbia courts for many years has been settled by the unsuccessful defendant on the basis of paying 80 per cent. of the judgment and all costs. The defendant is the Comox Logging and Railway Company and the plaintiffs are 50 Meriville settlers, who suffered loss of property, personal injuries and, in one case, a life, through a forest fire in June, 1922.

Hindooes Prefer German Colleges Hannover.—A conspicuous increase in the number of Hindoo students in German universities is reported since the end of the World War. Anti-British feeling, said to exist among the young Hindoo students, is given as the reason for their preference for German educational institutions.

To Oust The Foreigner Victoria, B.C.—That the imposition of the 100 per cent. luxury tax by the Japanese Government is a direct effort to oust the foreigner from Japan, was the opinion expressed by Stewart Fulton, a journalist, who has returned from a trip of the Far East.

MR. G. C. COOTE, M.P. PAYS
BLAIRMORE FLYING VISIT

Mr. G. C. Coote, M. P., the sitting member, of Nanton, paid a flying visit to Blairmore on Friday last and as he is very busy at present taking care of his crops, he was obliged to make his stay here very short, regretting he was unable to meet more of the citizens than his scanty time would permit.

Mr. Coote, we understand, intends to visit us again in the near future, when he will hold a mass meeting here to discuss the Home Bank affair and will let the people know what progress was made at the last session of the House. He will also hold a similar meeting in Fernie to this effect.

While here Mr. Coote found time to meet Mayor McLeod; also Mr. Vissac, manager of the West Canadian Collieries, or some very important business.

During his interview with the Mayor he was asked if he thought the Government intended to do anything for the Home Bank depositors. Mr. Coote is very strongly of the opinion that the Government will help the depositors, but to what extent he would not commit himself. Mr. Coote deserves great credit for the interest he is taking in the Home Bank depositors.

Here and There

It is anticipated that English orders for Canadian wool will exceed 1,000,000 pounds this year, which will be a considerable increase over the business of 1923, amounting to 700,000 pounds.

Definite advice has been received at Victoria, B.C., that the Japanese training squadron, consisting of the "Kishima," "Asama" and "Azuma" will visit Victoria during the winter. The squadron will leave Japan early in December, following the annual fall manoeuvres.

Approximately 60 per cent, or 1,252,604 of the population of Western Canada live on occupied farms. Of the balance, 474,516 live in its 20 cities and towns of over 2,500 and 228,962 in 3,309 small towns and villages of 2,500 or under.

The work of re-balling the main line of the Canadian Pacific between Montreal and Toronto (the Lake Ontario shore line) has just been completed. Nearly 2,000,000 tons of crushed rock, or about 35,000 carloads, were used in this operation. Officials state that the roadbed is now as excellent as it can be made and second to none in the world.

Successful strawberry culture 300 miles north of the international boundary has been proven possible by R. A. Gordon, of Edmonton, Alta. One hundred plants brought from Ontario wintered well, blossomed heavily and produced a prolific crop of well-formed, fine-flavored fruit with rich color and flavor. Mr. Gordon has likewise had much success with cherries, wild plums and crab apples.

Steady progress has been made by the macaroni industry in Canada during the past decade. The Bureau of Statistics reports that whereas the Dominion imported nearly 7,000,000 pounds in pre-war days, it imported only 1,096,000 pounds and exported 2,229,000 pounds in 1923. Nine factories, with a capitalization of $373,000, now operate in Canada, with an aggregate output approximating 11,500,000 pounds.

Whaling operations off the coast of British Columbia this season have been very successful. Four stations and six or seven whalers are working. Some of the vessels have secured 30 head so far this year. Whale oil is selling well in England, while whale meat, canned, is an established commodity in West Africa, the entire British Columbia whale meat pack of last year having been sold there.

Arrangements for the re-building of the old wing of the Chateau Lake Louise, the Canadian Pacific's charming hotel in the heart of the Canadian Rockies, are already under way. The contract has been awarded to Carter-Halls Aldinger, of Winnipeg, and Barrot and Blackader are the architects. The building will have a greater number of guest and public rooms than existed in the one which preceded it, as the hotel is now too small for the crowds which visit it. The work is to be completed in time for next season. It will be recalled that the old wing of the Chateau was destroyed by fire some months ago.

EXCERPT FROM MR. KELLY'S TALK BEFORE THE COTTON STATES MERCHANTS ASSOCIATION, MEMPHIS, TENNESSEE, AUGUST 28TH

A few weeks before my fortieth birthday, which was several years ago, my wife handed me a good sized bunch of letters one morning, the letters being addressed and stamped, suggested that I drop them in the mail box on my way to the office. I was my raincoat that morning, as it happened to be raining, so I slipped the letters in the pocket of the coat and, upon arriving at the office, I placed the coat in my locker, and forgot all about the letters. I did not wear that same coat again for several weeks, and that's where my trouble started.

These letters happened to be invitations to my fortieth birthday party. The evening of the party came, the stage was all set. The dinner was supposed to be at 6 p.m., but nobody but my friends failed to arrive, then I and behold, my wife said to me: "Do you recall a morning some weeks ago when I gave you those letters to mail? They were the invitations to your party." Immediately the thought struck me. "By golly, those letters are in the pocket of my raincoat at the office."

These letters handed me of an old friend of mine who was in to see me the other day. He told me about a motor trip he had taken, driving from Minneapolis up North for a few hundred miles. It happened to be on a Saturday. He visited several towns on his trip, calling in at many stores, and he remarked to me, "Do you know there were about two chain stores in each one of the towns I went through, and they were the only stores that were busy—the other stores didn't appear to be doing much thing. That caused him to investigate, just as a matter of curiosity, so I asked him the names of the towns he visited. I then wrote to the newspapers in each of the towns and requested that they send me their papers of Thursday and Friday, two days before the Saturday when my friend called at these stores. Upon receipt of these newspapers, I found that in four out of five papers, all the store advertising had been done by the chain stores. That solved the problem.

The retail merchants in the town where my friend visited had failed to advertise in the newspapers, inviting the public to their store that Saturday, and the public not receiving an invitation, did not come, but the chain stores had invited them with a neat effective ad, attractive in style and packed full of common sense, and, naturally, that is where they went.

So the stores that failed to receive their friends were like my birthday party—the crowd didn't come.

I venture to say in all the failures of retail merchants the last three years not twenty per cent of these same merchants advertised religiously in newspapers, whereas, if they had, their investment in newspaper advertising would have brought sufficient trade to prevent a great amount of their losses.

The total newspaper advertising of 122 daily newspapers in 28 principal cities of the United States in the year 1923 was 1,383,954,971 agate lines—a gain of 92,651,600 lines over the previous year.

We are not handicapped today in unfolding our business the same as our forefathers were who were compelled to depend chiefly upon personal exploitation of the individual, for the circulation in those days was very small.

First of all the newspaper has circulation. A single newspaper will give a much greater return per dollar spent than will any other form of advertising on which postage is spent.

Second, people are accustomed to reading the newspaper. It is not difficult to get their attention, as in the case of the circular, the booklet and their forms of direct by mail advertising.

Third, and best of all, it is timely. The advertiser is able to appeal to his audience by frequent advertisements. So we are led to believe that even criticism about us in the columns of newspapers is good advertising, and so with the retail merchant, the minute he starts figuring on selling merchandise, he has got to start figuring on the advertising that is going to do it.

Advertising certainly has many sides. It can scream, talk, or whisper. It can attract the eye or befuddle it. It can be an interesting story, or an interesting puff. There are just as many kinds of advertising as there are things to advertise. There is the sincere kind that breathes honesty and truthfulness, and which carries the reader right through to the end, and then again—there is the kind of advertising that says, "Beware, I am just trying to attract attention; I don't mean what I say, and I don't intend to make good on the extravagant claims I am talking about."

Newspapers, however, are not in the habit of publishing misleading advertising and for that reason the public has unlimited confidence in newspaper advertising. The retail merchant who will figure on spending two per cent of his gross receipts for newspaper advertising and one-half of one per cent for direct mail advertising, such as letters, post cards, etc., and prepare his advertising the same as if he were talking to his customers when they come in his store, should need be no need to complain about quiet trade.

You may say, "How can I educate myself to write advertising? I know many successful merchants who have gained their advertising education through reading and studying good trade publications which publish splendid articles in every issue. No one can prepare advertising for the goods you own and offer for sale as good as yourself. The merchant who is open-minded and visualizes his opportunity, retaining his subconscious mind in working order, is not going to experience dull trade."

Like the bathing suit manufacturer a short time ago who originated a picture of a beautiful young lady wearing a bathing suit. He had an actual photograph done in colors and it was so unique and attractive that I have noticed thousands of these ads pasted on automobile windshields.

One of the most successful small town merchants who has been in business for forty years has the happy faculty of getting a lot of free advertising in his local newspapers. Upon his visit to the New York market twice yearly he writes letters to the two newspapers of his town, telling about New York. He explains about the various improvements there that have taken place since his last visit—he tells about the merchandise markets he even goes so far as to give a brief history of the extravagant, as well as the economic, side of New York life. Hundreds of families in his territory look forward to reading his letters. You must capitalize upon everything pertaining to your business in order to get the public excited about your store.

Department stores in the large cities today never neglect to have their buyers, who go to foreign countries, send thousands of letters to their customers and prospective customers, telling about the huge purchases they have made of foreign goods. I have received many letters from representatives of large Minneapolis stores mailed from Paris, London and other European points. They tell what time their goods will arrive in this country, they explain about the new unique styles, fabrics and values.

I am a great believer in taking my newspaper as a partner in my business. Every newspaper has hundreds of ideas that are workable and profitable that they are only too glad to pass on to retail merchants—a newspaper is a clearing house of ideas especially pertaining to retail business and I wonder some time if we try to rest as close to our newspaper as we ought to be, as they would like to be with us. If you are interested in your newspaper they will be interested in you and if you follow up your advertising with attractive window displays, combining that with training your clerks and keeping up your direct by mail advertising, such as sending out a letter or post card monthly, you will find that your newspaper ads have greater pulling power than if you depend upon it alone to sell your merchandise.

Take, for instance, the manufacturer, wholesaler or jobber who backs up his salesman with newspaper advertising and direct mail advertising. Practically 75 per cent of the salesman's work is already done, when he goes to call upon a prospective customer, through the advertising that has already preceded him, the prospective customer already has a very good idea of the merchandise through the advertising.

The crying need today is more advertising. No better illustration can I cite of the effectiveness of advertising than the case of Barker Bros., retail furniture dealers in Los Angeles. A few years ago they sold $700,000 worth of furniture in their store and, through expanding their advertising, investment, Barker Bros. last year sold sixteen million dollars worth of furniture.

I should think we would all take inventory of ourselves when confronted with actual instances like the above and note what Henry Ford has done the past year through advertising. Up to this year Henry Ford has done very little advertising, but being far-sighted, he sold himself the idea that in 1924, perhaps he had in mind not only 1924, but every year afterwards, he was going to invest a substantial amount of his gross receipts for advertising, and his appropriation for 1924 was seven million dollars. Within the past six months I have visited the Ford factories in Detroit—they have been running full capacity, three eight-hour shifts, steadily employing over 160,000 people besides the thousands they are employing in their other large plants all over the country.

Henry Ford has experienced a situation which makes it highly desirable to advertise. Perhaps he foresaw the present slump, which has appeared to hit the motor concerns with special velocity. Perhaps he judged the time ripe solely because of the attitude of the people and the fact that our Federal Government has declared open season for swatting big business.

At any rate, for some six months now the Ford Motor Company has been displaying itself in the publications of the country, in newspapers large and small, in class periodicals, in farm papers, in general magazines, in street cars, in outdoor positions, and in many other forms of advertising.

With my brokerage business we appropriated $1,000,000 for advertising this year, and we are like the National Cash Register Company who claim that they had the biggest business in all their business career during May of this year and you know how difficult it is to sell cash registers.

In an article I read the other day I noticed also that 400,000 Ford cars were sold during the months of May and June of this year and only a short time ago he started on his second ten million cars.

What is the Standard Oil Company doing? Their advertising appears religiously in about every newspaper in the United States. They bring home right to the very door the fact that it does not necessarily take money to do business—using your brains and thinking is what counts.

It is reported that over 50,000 Canadian women visited London, England, during the summer.

Was there a circus in town the other day? One could almost have sworn so, owing to the fact that a female of the species was observed on the main street about the hours of 9 and 130, her face looked as if she had been making love to the clown, and in so doing had transferred the whitewash from his to her own face.

Poor creature; if she only was well enough educated to understand Burns: "O wad some power the gittie gie us, Twa see oorsel's as ithers see us."

ALL THE NICE GIRLS

The Canadian Pacific liner "Montreal" recently brought 200 happy Canadian University Students home from a stay of several weeks in England and on the continent. A happy group of girls and boys, with Captain John Hall, commander of the ship. The steamer called at Cherbourg to pick up 250 returning Canadian tourists who had spent part of the summer abroad.

TEACHING PATRIOTISM
IN OUR SCHOOLS

The vital question, which was well understood by the educational authorities of the United States long before the war, was even talked about in Canada, and has been laughed at in Canada, condemned as unnecessary in a free country where everyone was supposed to venerate his own flag as well as his own church. I hold no brief for the United States, but I admire the magnificent way in which they long ago tackled the question of educating the children from the four corners of the earth to recognize and respect the emblem of their nation.

The great country over the border has for generations taught its school children to salute the flag, to respect it, and to love it. It is possible to deny the effect which the saluting of the flag, the symbol of the nation, can and does have on the great heterogeneous crowd of little children, many of whom have no acknowledgment of their own. Is there no subtle influence in the presence of the little colored rag pinned in the school-boy's coat or stitched in the lining of the girl's middie blouse, or buried at the bottom of a child's pocket amongst marbles and bits of string or other such treasures?

Our whole system of teaching can be made to serve this one end of making our children know and love their country and their flag, the history, the geography, the geography of the British processions on the earth-globe; our literature, the story of British genius through the ages.

Some eighteen months ago I was teaching in a small town school, a few hours from Edmonton. There were 52 pupils of ages varying from 5 to 17, in all grades, all from English-speaking families. One of my first lessons in geography was made the occasion for a general enquiry as to how much my pupils know about Great Britain and the Empire. Two children among the 52 were able without hesitation to point out Great Britain on the map of the world. They were children who had come, one from London, the other from somewhere in Scotland. Not one in the whole school was able straightaway to mention the five great colonies which, with Britain, form the British Empire. I venture to say that when I left that school the knowledge of geography had been raised to a higher level and the word Empire meant something more than just a name. It had definite thing, obscure and impalpable.

I have been told that one cannot teach patriotism in Public Schools; that there is no time. This I deny most emphatically. The youngest child in our schools can be taught patriotism in its highest form, not merely as a word signifying a khaki uniform or the sound of artillery, but as a word which means love and reverence for the flag as a symbol of a Motherland who, under the fold of the flag, gives to her children protection, justice, freedom and the free education and who, therefore, is entitled to receive in return from everyone of those children, love, devotion, gratitude, respect, admiration, and a spirit of sacrifice,—indeed, the most glorious of all sacrifices that can be asked of men, that of giving their very life for that Motherland and for the ideals that she stands for.

The morning prayers in our schools are not compulsory, and yet there is scarcely a town or a village school which does not, regardless of creed or nationality, begin the day's work with the Lord's prayer. Every teacher who really studies children knows the moral weight, through the morning lessons, of those few seconds of enforced reverence. Deep and broad in its influence over the mass of growing citizens in our Canadian schools would be the daily salutation and reverent obedience to the flag.

The love of the flag does not come in a day. It is a slow growth and must be instilled early in life if it is to bear the right fruits. A child should be taught to have the same respect for the flag that he is taught to have for the Bible. I maintain that no child should be allowed to destroy even the smallest flag which is the symbol of the country. In the words of Augier, the French writer, "It is not only a little bit of rag at the end of a pole; it is the folds of the Nation."

When the late King Edward VII was received in France at the wonderful "Entente-Cordiale" festival held in Paris a few months before his death, a great tricolor flag had been laid on the pavement from the door of the station to his carriage. As the king came to the door he at once saw the flag but, instead of stepping upon it, he stopped short and, pushing to one side the British ambassador who was immediately beside him, he stepped to the right until he got outside the edge of the flag; then he wheeled towards the national tricolor, took one step back, and saluted, the whole of his suite followed the example which formed a lesson never to be forgotten by those who, like myself, were fortunate enough to witness the incident. The seed sown that day in the heart of the French Nation has since thrown out its parent blooms on the Allied front during the great war.

Last Empire Day, on the 24th of May, we had in a private town a splendid display of physical drill given in the armories by all the school children of the city. The efficiency of the training and the beautiful value of the exercises were unquestionable. The ten-cent flag decorated the immense hall and a splendid chance for a display of patriotic feeling was thus lost again to the twelve hundred school children, and to as many of their friends and relatives who filled the armories to overflowing.

Surely, when the pulse of the Nation throbs with pride in our navy when every heart beats time with the strains of "God Save the King" a place can be found in every school programme for some kind of patriotic exercise, if it is only a salutation to the flag! The excellency of training in physical culture is readily acknowledged, but the marketing in time of so many little feet will not teach our children that they are the citizens of one Nation within one Empire and that the folds of the Canadian flag are forever entwined within those of the Union Jack—Mrs. Hamer-Jackson, Vancouver, B.C.

CONGESTED TRAFFIC
PROBLEM SOLVED?
Visitors to London, England, notice one outstanding feature of the dense traffic, and that is the ease with which the smaller motor cars so favored by English people are handled. Easy to manipulate, occupying little street surface it is a simple matter for them to worm their way among dense traffic or, as occasion demands, slide up to the curb in parking space their bigger brothers would find absolutely impossible.

London traffic is not as serious a question as it is in New York for instance, one reason being because the smaller, more economical car enjoys popularity over there and manufacturers who find street and highway congestion a sales resistance to big cars, may find a lesson in this fact.

Suggestions have been made in some quarters that automobiles be taxed according to the road space occupied. There is undoubtedly a trend away from large, cumbersome, space-eating cars.

Cost is only one of the factors involved, for many persons of wealth are today using the smaller, more economical car account of greater flexibility, traffic and parking difficulties.

Some students of the automobile industry are convinced that universal use of the smaller, lighter car will be a very decided factor in relieving traffic congestion.

A FIRST AUTOMOBILE
RIDE IN LIBERIA

An object of great interest to many Liberians in Monrovia was a Ford automobile, rusting its days away in a corrugated-iron shed near Water-side, the shopping district. They heard that it would run, but only a few, an ocular demonstration of the claim never having been made, really believed it. Besides, where could it run? Monrovia's streets were rocky trails, picturesque, but not inviting to motor travel. A sort of road had been cut for a few miles through the bush around the coast to Camp Johnson, where the native troops were huddled, and the little Ford, it was said, had negotiated the circuit when it was young and active. Now the road was as if it had never been, so quickly does the bush reclaim what was once its own, and the automobile wasted in a sad repose, succumbing to the visitations of the tropics. A sorry-looking object it was, with its mud-dewed upholstery, rusty metal and decrepit tires.

Various stories were current as to how that Ford came to Liberia, the school almost without roads, but so clouded was their authenticity that all blended into one; they had nearly attained the dignity of legend. One story was that an enthusiastic but misinformed agent in England had sent the car there to demonstrate its use. Another story said that it had been consigned to a customer in Lagos down on the Gold Coast, but that it had been landed at Monrovia by mistake. Now landing at Monrovia is complicated enough for a person, to say nothing of an automobile. With an open roadstead, passengers and freight make the exciting trip over the bar in cargo boats beautifully handled by those expert water-men of the West Africa coast, the Kru. After once landing the Ford and having it carried up the cliff from the shore on the shoulders of natives, it was simpler to charge it to profit and loss than to reload it, so there it stood, its body getting dingier and dingier, its tires flatter and flatter, until one day a man of vision thought to use it as propaganda in a constructive road-building program.

Liberia is a rich, as well as a beautiful country—rich in palm oil, piassava and other products that the markets of the world used, but the lack of long trains of native pack animals, each bearing on his head his sixty-pound burden of produce, and winding his way through a maze of narrow trails, over perilous streams with a submerged log often his only footing, could not possibly supply the demand. There must be developed roads and a more rapid means of transportation.

The Commissioner-General, an American, with a desire to popularize the good road movement, evolved the plan of bringing from the interior to the capital of Monrovia, those influential chiefs who would have to be asked to furnish the labor for road building. Natives do not like particularly to labor in the tropics, so inducement had to be offered. The idea was to gain the support of the paramount chiefs, who are chiefs of chiefs, by a demonstration of what an automobile can do, and the consequent value of roads.

Most of the chiefs did not know what a road was, while an automobile was something not only not in their vocabulary, but beyond their imagination; so, erect indeed was their curiosity as they took the trail with their headmen and retainers in obedience to summons from the capital who brought them "good talk" from "the big Daddy"—the President of Liberia.

There were stately chiefs from the Muhammadan Mandingos and Vais; from the Golas, the Kpessias and the Bassas. Most of them wore the flowing robe of deep blue and white striped "country cloth," as the fabric they weave from wild cotton is called. Picturesque beyond words were they, strolling along in calm dignity, each followed by his headman bearing his mace, which might be a sword, or a carved bedstead leg, that came from no one knew where, or carrying a "hair perfume," for his chief's convenience should he stop on the trail to have "palaver"—all important talk is palaver and almost all talk seems important—with some acquaintances. On the day appointed, about twenty chiefs were on hand at the football field. Yes, there was a football field, hewn out of the jungle, for were there not enough Englishmen in the town to make up a team? That being the case, the field was a sine qua non.

The little Ford, by this time looking as old as Africa itself, labored over the rocky streets to the waiting chiefs. To them it was as much an object of wonder as the pigmy hippopotamus at Massapequa was to the American visitors.

First the commissioner explained in the delightfully awful hybrid English of the coast, the theory on which the car was operated. Its main "chop"—food—was gasoline and they must see the mouth into which the food went. The machine drank water to keep cool just as they did. The oil for lubricating, described as an accessory to make the engine run more smoothly, was compared to the palm oil which they took with their food to make it taste better.

During this explanation, a most profound interest held them. The native Liberian is an excellent listener, voicing his approval now and then with a vehement and long-drawn "Um-m-m!" ending with a rising inflection. Several chiefs, in an attempt to see more of the workings of this strange creature, got their fingers burned on the manifold and other heated portions of the engine, much to their bewilderment.

The two ranking paramount chiefs and their headmen were accorded the honor of the first ride. The rule of precedence is as inexorable in the bush as at the Court of St. James, it seems.

It is hardly possible adequately to describe the changing expressions on their faces during this adventure—now delight at smooth going, now apprehension as a corner was made at ten miles, or indignation at a sudden stop or start. As the Ford reached the impossible speed of twenty miles an hour on a smooth stretch, one of the headmen was restrained with difficulty from jumping out. They all refused to sit down but stood swaying uncertainly, grasping the back and sides of the car.

One chief all but stopped operations by clasping the American driver tightly around the neck and holding on. After a ten-mile ride, they piled out with audible sighs of relief, but, curiously enough, asked a little later for another ride, when, supported by their headmen, they were again in the car. If reluctant to enter active life after their long rest, but by constant coaxing they were finally persuaded.

At the conclusion of the demonstration, the commissioner called the chiefs together and told them just what good transportation would mean to them and their country. He explained how a motor truck, starting

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

Mrs. Cora Fortier is in a Cranbrook hospital training for a nurse.

A noticeable improvement has been made in town by repairing the side walks.

Several of the Cowley golfers attended the recent tournament which was held at Lundbreck.

Remember the school fair will be held here on October 1st. We expect it to be better than ever before.

There is a rumor that the Banff Orchestra will give a dance here in aid of the skating rink in the near future.

Owing to the recent grading on the local highway between here and Pincher Creek, travelling has been made difficult.

Several of the local hunters were out on Monday shooting in their eagerness to get some ducks at the opening of the season.

Several of the Cowley ladies attended the district convention of the Women's Institute at Beaver Mines on Monday afternoon last.

On Tuesday a special meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Peter McEwen. The question of serving lunch on the day of the school fair was discussed.

Seventy-five per cent of the grain is cut. The crops are good and a heavy yield is anticipated. The weather has been ideal for harvesting and frost is keeping off remarkably well.

Mrs. Brockwell and Mrs. Hannan gave a whist party and dance in aid of the Anglican Church on Saturday night. The winners of the prizes were as follows: Ladies' first, Miss Muriel Murphy (nothing); Gentlemen's first, James Gerry (pair military hair brushes). The consolation prizes were awarded to Mrs. Ed. Greve and Ralph Hamlet.

Yours truly, A Member.
Rod McLeod was a business visitor to Bellevue on Monday.

MINISTERS IN CONFERENCE

The Methodist ministers and lay men, of the Macleod district, met for conference in the Bellevue Methodist Church on Wednesday and Thursday. There were twelve ministers and six laymen present and the meeting was presided over by Rev. Armstrong, of Macleod.

During the afternoon a survey of financial conditions throughout the district was made, with the object of finding out how much mission money was necessary to augment local contributions. Plans were made for a missionary anniversary throughout the district on October 26th. Revs. Garsden, Armstrong and Bainbridge will be in Hillcrest, Blairmore and Bellevue respectively on that date.

At supper hour, the Ladies' Aid provided a banquet for all visitors, after which a public service was held when a lecture on "One Hundred Years of Mission Work in Canada," illustrated by slides, was given by Rev. G. F. Driver, of Calgary. This lecture was splendidly arranged to show what growth has taken place along all lines in that period. About fifty people from Blairmore Union Church were present at the lecture.

Business was carried on on Thursday morning. A resolution of the Hillcrest Board asking the Missionary Board to assist in giving them a building that would better serve the young people of the community, was endorsed and forwarded by the district meeting.

SUGAR BEET POSSIBILITIES

It now seems almost certain that Southern Alberta, probably Lethbridge, will be selected as the site of a sugar beet factory to be erected by the Utah-Idaho Sugar Co., of Salt Lake City. During the past week officials of this company met with prominent Lethbridge citizens and with Hon. V. W. Smith, minister of railways, under whose jurisdiction comes the irrigation schemes of the south. The officials went fully into the possibilities of the proposition, and the question is only one of production of the beets, which the farmers of the irrigated sections seem ready to undertake. The sugar company officials will make a definite decision shortly. A considerable acreage has been prepared for sugar beets in the irrigated district surrounding Lethbridge.

R. J. Crooks and family, who have resided in Frank for a number of years, leave this week for Macleod, where they will reside in future.

Alberta's tar sands near Waterways have been attracting considerable attention from experts this season. The latest to visit the deposits was Roland T. Day, prominent mining engineer of New York City, who recently returned from the north, expressing the confident opinion that there was no obstacle to the development of the bituminous sands on a large scale.

Hon. R. M. McGregor, M.P. for Picou County, Nova Scotia, died suddenly at his home there last week.

The provincial schools of agriculture at Olds and Claresholm will open for the 1924-25 term on October 23, the term closing on March 27. In these schools free courses in practical agriculture and home economics are offered for boys and girls over 16 interested in taking these courses. No examination requirements are set for entrance.

General A. H. Bell, at present commanding Military District 13, with headquarters at Calgary, will take over command of the Toronto district in the near future. The Alberta command will be filled by Col. W. Gibson, now director of organization and personal service in the department of national defence at Ottawa.

Mr. Rex Dillingham, who stopped off at Innisfail to visit his parents, the editor and Mrs. Dillingham, left on Monday morning for Coronation. Mr. J. R. Gresham, who accompanied him this far from Blairmore, left on the early morning train for his home. Innisfail Province.

Here and There

Although Alberta only became a province eighteen years ago, its population has increased fourfold, while the grain yield has increased twentyfold. The total agricultural products of Alberta in 1923 were worth $228,000,000.

The scheme for the settlement of British emigrants in Canada may assume a new aspect as a result of the presence in London, England, of the Hon. J. A. Robb, Canadian Minister of Immigration. Canada favors the movement of entire families to Canada from Great Britain, rather than that of single men.

Among the biggest muscadelings caught this year was one landed at the Canadian Pacific Railway's French River (Ont.) Bungalow Camp, by Samuel Franklin, Southern Sales Manager of Claffins, Inc., New York City. Mr. Franklin had a light tackle and had never hooked a large before. He had a hard fight to secure the fish, which tipped the scale at 28½ pounds.

A total of 13,743 Canadians, most of them native-born, has been repatriated from the United States during the months of April, May and June, according to figures announced by the Department of Immigration. During these three months 58,426 persons immigrated to Canada, which represented an increase of 12,292 over the same period of last year.

Marquis wheat, originated at the Dominion Experimental Farms and now world famous, has successfully invaded South America, being grown in the Argentine Republic last year with results that, according to authorities there, exceeded the expectations of the most optimistic advocates of the grain. Further shipments of seed are being made to the Argentine by the Canadian Seed Growers' Association.

Calgary auto camp reports a brisk season during the past summer months, a total of 1972 cars with 7000 people having stopped at the camp, as compared with 1452 cars and 4854 people in 1923.

The first annual sale of imported and home-bred Scotch shorthorns, being Whitelaw and Brownvale on the Hampshire and Shropshire rams, the property of the Prince of Wales, will be held at the E.P. Ranch on October Wembley and Dimasdale, on the 1. All breeders and others interested Grande Prairie extension of the E. D. and B. C.

The new election act of the province has been gazetted and is now in effect. Its first use will be in the Edmonton bye-election shortly, to fill the vacancy created by the elevation of Hon. J. R. Boyle to the bench.

Four new towns have been created in the north country recently, these are home-bred Scotch shorthorns, being Whitelaw and Brownvale on the Hampshire and Shropshire rams, the property of the Prince of Wales, will be held at the E.P. "Looks like murder," he said, his eyes leaving the stolen uniform and focusing on the wound, the clean hole of a steel bullet in the right temple. "It is murder—frankly and coldly," he declared, her voice sharp with conviction.

But Seymour was not so sure. Without disturbing a convulsive death grip, he examined the revolver held in an outstretched hand. It had been discharged once.

"Wasn't a complete ambush, anyway," he murmured. "He had some hint of what was coming. Couldn't have drawn his gun after that bullet hit him. The way my ears read the reports, he fired just after the rifle spoke—probably a spasmodic pull on the trigger with no aim or hit. You know, Mounties are not supposed to fire first. The rule has killed a number of them."

"He was so brave—absolutely fearless," she murmured.

Seymour might have gone further in reconstructing the crime, but he checked observation on the subject lest she suspect of his training.

"You knew him well, Miss-Miss—" he asked, partially to divert her mind from his professional deductions.

"In Ruth Duperon," she told him. "My uncle is a man who has a description of the colorful cousin who was keeping her father on the edge. The contrast in type was remarkable."

"Yes," she went on, "I knew the sergeant quite well and admired his courage and brightness."

"You told his name was—"

The girl's frankness did not desert her. "His real name was Russell Seymour and we knew him first as Bart Caswell. You see, he has been here for a month, studying the camp with out anyone suspecting that he was not the mining expert he pretended he was. Not until the stage robbery did he disclose who he was and put on his uniform."

Seymour tried to hide a smile; the plan which he had outlined as Bart Caswell's sounded so exactly like his. When he turned back to her, his hand was striking meditatively a clean shaven chin.

"Is there a coroner in Gold?" he asked.

"When a man was killed in a shaft cave-in on Sweet Marie Creek last week, a deputy sheriff came to the service," was the girl's information, delivered with a frown. The reason for the frown she could not say, but when she added "That deputy sheriff and coroner is a chump named"

WORKING GIRL'S EXPERIENCE

Read How She Found Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Amprion, Ontario.—"I must write and tell you my experience with your medicine. I was working at the factory for three years and became so run-down that I used to take weak spells and would be at home at least one day each week. I was treated by the doctors for anemia, but it didn't seem to do me any good. I was told to take a rest, but I was unable to, and kept on getting worse. I was troubled mostly with my periods. I would sometimes get a terrible cramp, and when it came it would last about two weeks, and I would have such painful times in my right side that I could not walk. I am only 19 years of age, and weigh 115 pounds now, and before taking the Vegetable Compound I was only 105 pounds. I was sickly for two years and some of my friends told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and when I had taken a bottle of it I felt a change. My mother has been taking it for a while and she has found it very satisfactory. I am willing to tell friends about it and I have found it very satisfactory."

— Miss HAZEL BERNETT, Box 700, Amprion, Ontario.

Sam Hardley, and he didn't like Bart—I mean Mr. Seymour."

"The real Seymour made mental note of this treatment without seeming to be impressed or more than casually interested."

"At this Hardley will have to be notified, I suppose," Miss Duperon went on. "It's the law, isn't it?"

"The possibly could have known about such a rig was in transit. At best the authority which any spurious lawyer might command, must be of brief duration for the owner could be counted on to follow his clothes. The risk was not worth the feeing advantage."

The sergeant did not have to argue himself into a conviction that he must seek elsewhere for the purpose of the holdup. Some other shipment—just what, he meant to find out—that was coveted and worth taking chances to secure must have been expected. He believed that, in examining his loot, the robber-murderer had come upon the uniform and had decided to use it in some other hold stroke without the law.

The sergeant could not without admission that the man who called himself Caswell had shown in his last hours of life. To let an untrusted and tenacious man to declare himself the representative of Dominion authority and to undertake the solution of his own crime was a coup as clever and novel as it was impudent. Had the culprit stopped short, he meant to find out—that was what he meant to do. He was in the stage car, Seymour concluded.

On superficial survey, it seemed to the sergeant that the bogus officer had been riding out from town on some mission, not entirely unattended by those against whom he meant to act. Near the trail forks, someone had lain in wait and killed him.

One shot had sufficed. Caswell's effort to answer undoubtedly had been futile. "When the slayer shot at him, away in the brush. It seemed unlikely that he would go into town; entirely reasonable return, however, whence he had come. Seymour imagined that that would be the place for which the police would look. He was not, were that ever determined. That the escape had been through the brush, recently ploughed in, and no one had passed then on the trail after the shooting."

"Twenty yards into the brush, he set. Kew parallel with the trail that followed the River Cheena. The undergrowth was not too thick for riding if one watched for fallen trees and devil-chub skeletons. The ground, soft from recent rain, was not too muddy for tracks like puffy. An Indian in moccasins might have passed without leaving a trail, but any booter would have shed footprints like Crusoe's man Friday."

The officer picked up horse tracks so fresh as to be still sucking moisture from the muskies. "These might have been left by which he had followed Miss Duperon." He traced them back to a clump of poplars, where they ended. The horse had been ridden, evidently having been ridden from the main trail. Footprints carried on, like he testified to a round trip in that direction. He examined them with care. In measuring them, he noted the impression of a peculiar plate on the right side. Either the wearer was slightly lame or possessed a gait that made it advisable to reinforce the outer edge of his boot.

The foot trail ended in a patch of salubrious bushes, already in thick leaf and laden with berries. The ground about where the earth was beaten down, he soon discovered a copper-colored plate, the eyes side of this as having been thrown from a 30-30 Winchester, the same sort as that his saddle carried, one likely common in that region. "Undoubtedly the dented case had held the steel sword blade that ended the career of the crook who had dared impersonate a Mountie."

When Seymour had ended the career of the crook who had dared impersonate a Mountie, he saw he was head and shoulders above the Bramble screen in plain view and easy range of the tragedy scene. Doubtless in the very spot which he occupied, the murderer had stood erect to fling a lance or a rifle, or a pistol at the approaching horseman; then he had shot before the other could act.

The circuitous ride of the crime, produced to his own satisfaction, Seymour squandered a moment in studying the partner of the trail, so keenly unsuspected by the fair object thereof.

Ruth Duperon stood uncovered, her hat hanging from the horn of her saddle. The sun played upon the unadorned waves of her silver-gold hair, bringing out unadorned gleams. She was taller than he had thought, almost as tall as her cousin, Moira. Her face was buried in hands that rested on the saddle seat, her pulse slumped and heavy with grief.

"Poor youngling," mused the sergeant in deep sympathy. "She's taking it hard. The great head of the crowd sure raked her with the ladies. Knowing that her mother was a missionary, this Bart would not be at loss when he told her that he was in the life. This Bart Caswell—or whatever his real name was—handsome good-looking. No resemblance to me. He turned away with the hope that someone else would have the job of telling her the shattered man himself was a criminal."

Regaining his horse, Seymour mounted, minded to follow the horse print trail for a way. This was child's play; Kate attended to it, leaving the sergeant free to peer about. About the time his mind was busy revolving the surprising facts with which chance had equipped him.

He saw no need for mental doze over the stage robbery. The uniform in which Bart was clad unquestionably was the dresser of the two he had enclosed in the bag and shipped to Gold. The "B" driver and a new tailor's mistake had been made in stitching on the insignia and trace of the change remained on the sleeve. Even had there been other members of the Force in the district, he would have recognized the uniform. He had not doubted that the handsome deceiver of Cousin Ruth either had held up the stage single-handed or had participated in the crime.

He could not agree with Ruth Duperon that the road agent, or agents, had mistaken the express vehicle for one of the passenger coaches in use on this difficult line. That did not stand the test of reason, any more than it did the supposition that the robbers had been for the sake of obtaining the uniform of a mounted police officer. No, the possibly could have known about such a rig was in transit. At best the authority which any spurious lawyer might command, must be of brief duration for the owner could be counted on to follow his clothes. The risk was not worth the feeing advantage."

CHAPTER XV.
Under Suspicion

None of the usual greetings of the Northern trail were offered Seymour as he rode up to the group. Instead, the silence of his horse was broken by a series of frowning glances. The men presented a stolid front of rigid acquiescence. The probability of his being him that, as the first stranger to reach the scene, he was under suspicion in connection with the crime.

The sergeant stopped his horse and was about to dismount when there was a shout among the men. The most short, stout man, from whose ample chest dangled a small cannon of a rifle, waddled forth to stand before him.

"What's happened?" asked Seymour quick to decide to say nothing of his previous visit.

"That's what we're going to find out," said the fat man, his eyes fixed on the small voice with which humans of small girl often are afflicted. "Who're you?"

An Air Pressure Railway

South Devon Had Only One of Its Kind Ever Attempted

The South Devon Atmospheric Railway which was operated for a considerable time during the year 1847, was the only one of its kind ever attempted. The trains were run entirely by air pressure, which was forced through a pipe laid along the centre of the track, says London Answers.

In order to maintain an adequate supply of air, pumping stations were provided at intervals of three miles. The Monklands and Kirkintilloch line, which celebrates its century this year, started with a single truck and no engine at all. In order to provide the necessary force for propulsion, stout umbrellas were held out to be filled by the following wind. But the return journey was not so easy. Those who had ridden one way were forced to get out and push their "train" home again.

Complete Unique Bible

A unique Bible has just been completed by the Bible Society of Maine, after nearly one year's work. The entire Bible is written by hand, by more than 1,600 individuals having each a page of copy, while a number of others made maps and illustrations. A millionaire and a pauper, a merchant and a housewife, a public man and a life of the common people, all have contributed their quota, while persons of all religious faiths are included. The book, it is said, will be used to further the aims and objects of the society, which was founded nearly a century and a quarter ago.

Roman Knight With Sword and Buckler

Interesting Discovery Is Made By a Peasant in Bulgaria

A peasant ploughing near a small village in Bulgaria, turned up one of the most interesting archaeological finds made in recent years. When the plow struck an obstruction, the peasant found it was a slab of marble. Lifting this a marble tomb was disclosed.

On the helmet well preserved and of a high order of workmanship, were the figures of Apollo, Pallas, Athena, Poseidon, Minerva and Mars. One ear-piece found bore the figure of Zeus with the trident. The other ear-piece was lacking.

The helmet was silvered and some of the white metal still adhered. The human figure that once bore the helmet and carried the weapons was entirely absent, except in the form of ashes in small amount, estimated at five or six ounces, and in the form of a few small bones.

The knight who bore the armor was evidently a high personage, said Director Velkoff. "Therefore, after his body had been deposited in the grave it was burned, an early instance of cremation."

Some Chinese Still Will Sell Children

If Hard Up Take That Way To Raise Money

That the selling of children, and especially of girls, is still prevalent in China away from the foreign centers is shown by an episode that occurred a few days ago at the American Church Mission. A Chinese came to the mission and related that he, his wife and child entered from Hankow to the mission and were, he said, stranded at an inn on account of the wife's illness.

They had been there, he said, about two weeks and he was entirely out of funds. He owed the innkeeper six dollars and his only recourse was to sell his little son. He begged the mission people to buy him.

Investigation appeared to show that the tale was true; that they were strangers in the place and were on their way to Nanking, where they were to be sold. The missionaries and the woman brought to their hospital where she quickly responded to proper care; and two days later the little family was sent on its way with Nanking.

The aftermath was the same in a sense as might happen in any country. The mission was besieged with "worthy cases." It was remarkable, they said, that the mission people, what a large number of people found themselves forced to sell their children, and it was noted that a majority of those were worthy girls.

Win Indian Name

Saskatchewan Boy Captures High Honors at Tuxis Boy Camp in Algonquin Park

Albert Brown, who represented Saskatchewan Tuxis boys at Camp Ahmek, in Algonquin Park, was awarded the Bart McDonald scholarship for general proficiency on the basis of all-round camping ability at the end of the two-month camp, which was attended by 200 boys and leaders from all over the United States and Canada.

A still further distinction gained by the Saskatchewan Tuxis boy was that of being granted an Indian name in the Order of Glitchahmek, which is composed of a select group of boys and leaders who have demonstrated their ability as campers and have shown the highest qualities of personality and conduct.

Albert Brown was named Apenchids, which mean, in English, the self-reliant one. He was the only boy in camp this year to attain an Indian name.

Burt McDonald, a former resident of Regina, was the donor of a scholarship which made it possible for Brown to attend the camp. Mr. McDonald was present in the camp for the closing banquet, when the announcement of the award was made, and was the first to congratulate the Saskatchewan boy after the silver cups had been presented to him by Taylor Station, director of the camp.

The "house" campers are chosen on the basis of all-round activities and relationships of a camp life. The number of boys in the various activities qualified for by the campers is one of the factors considered. Albert Brown qualified for 15 of these bars in swimming, lifesaving, canoeing, carpentering, woodcraft, astronomy, trees, flowers, citizenship, public speaking, diving, boxing, entertaining, Indian life and riding—Regina Leader.

Reforming the Calendar

Scheme Advocated By Winnipeg Man

Several Years Ago

The thirteen month calendar scheme recently proposed in a resolution by the American Meteorological Society, was advocated by J. W. Harris, a pioneer Winnipegger several years ago.

The calendar reform scheme, as outlined by Mr. Harris, appeared in his book, "The Art of Rapid Computation and Science of Numbers," published in 1919.

The year of 13 months of four weeks each, with one extra day, is fully explained by Mr. Harris under the heading of "Chronology or Time Computation."

"The 13-month system, with 28 days to each month," says Mr. Harris, "has many points in its favor, and much to recommend its adoption. It is the simplest at the earliest possible date. This arrangement of 13 months of four weeks each, with seven days to each week, would leave an extra day in each year, which could be made to occupy a place as a holiday to close the old year, or to be called New Year's Day and utilized as a holiday to start the year. It would thus cause no disarrangement concerning the names of the days of the week, nor with the names of the months generally. The added day for leap year could in like manner be sandwiched between Saturday at the end of the 26th week and the following Monday as an extra holiday to be called 'Leap Year Day.' The year would have to be given to the added or thirteenth month, Mr. Harris suggests that the misleading old names of the months be done away with, and they be called the "first," "second," "third," and so on to "thirteenth" month.

Eat Less To Be Thin

A reader writes: "Kindly give me a recipe for quick thinning, as you have for quick fattening."

Reply: Easy. Quit eating. If that's too rapid, eat less. If you want to feel comfortable as you thin, eat nothing but bulky vegetables, but eat plenty of them. Cabbage, cauliflower, green beans, and other green vegetables, tomatoes, radishes, turnips, beets, squash, pumpkin and string beans are on the list of bulky vegetables.—San Francisco Bulletin.

Size Of Hailstones

Maximum Possible Size Cannot Be Positively Ascertained

The question is often asked as to the maximum known or possible size of the hailstones. According to records of the U.S. Weather Bureau, the largest possible size of a single hailstone cannot be positively stated, but stones larger than a man's fist and weighing over a pound have several times been reported on good authority.

During a hailstorm in Natal, on April 17, 1874, stones fell that weighed a pound and a half, and passed through a corrugated-iron roof as if it had been made of paper. Hailstones 14 inches in circumference fell in New South Wales, February, 1847. At Caen, France, on June 12, 1828, the houses were crushed under blocks of ice, some of which are said to have weighed four and a half pounds.

In October, 1844, a hailstorm at Cotte, France, wrecked houses and sank vessels.

Authentic reports of the spring hailstones much larger than those above mentioned undoubtedly refer in all cases to masses of ice resulting from the coalescence after falling, of a number of smaller hailstones lying closely packed together on the ground.

Noted Maharajah Was Great English Scholar

Prince Ruled Over Three Million People in India

From Masses comes news of the death of the Maharajah of Travancore. The Maharajah, Sri Rama Varma, though a great English scholar and a most progressive prince, would not take meals with his wife because, according to the customs of his land, she was of "low birth," neither would the Maharajah drink water or eat a meal after he had shaken hands with or received a foreigner until he had taken a bath in running water.

The crown falls to the son of the Maharajah's elder sister, who, according to custom, was married, while still a girl, to a man of high caste. The Maharajah's own son, therefore, although well educated and brought up in luxury, cannot take his father's title. Travancore, the leading Malayalam State of Southwest India, has an area of 6,730 square miles and a population of 3,000,000. The Maharajah, who possessed great wealth, lived in a beautiful palace at Travancore, the capital of the State. As a ruler of so important a State he had a salute of 19 guns, to which, as personal compliment to himself, two were added, putting him in the front rank of Indian princes.

Locomotives For Argentine

Seventeen from England Were Loaded On One Ship

Seventeen full-sized locomotives, completely assembled, have arrived at Buenos Aires from England on one ship, said to be the largest shipment of its kind ever made for so long a distance.

The motor ship Belvidere which took them was especially designed by the builders for transporting locomotives so that they can be put on the rails immediately on their arrival all ready for service. The locomotives, weighing 15 tons each, were delivered to the Argentine Southern Railway.

Another Western Empire

Country in Peace River Region Only Awaiting Development

Sir Henry Thornton is very hopeful as to the prospects of the Peace River country, which has been called "The Last Great West." He says that if only 50 per cent. of its acreage were brought under cultivation more wheat would be produced than is done at present in all the rest of Canada, and poultry, cattle and sheep also raised in abundance. "Even if its estimate of the wheat-producing capacity be regarded as a little too sanguine there is no doubt that in the Peace River region and the surrounding country there is another western empire awaiting development. Even the Peace River may not be the last west of the last north," Mr. E. H. Stewart, who is familiar with the country, speaks highly of the productive capacity of the region north of the Peace River, and tells of wheat ripening at a point near Great Slave Lake before the end of July. It is Mr. Stewart's opinion that the country will require an eastern outlet on Hudson Bay as well as a western outlet on the Pacific. Once there is adequate communication with the Peace River country the way will be opened for trying out the possibilities of other fields.—Toronto Globe.

Wembley Exhibition

A Financial Failure

But Striking Success From Educational and Business Viewpoint

It is stated that all the dominions have decided not to continue their exhibits at Wembley next year. This is very disappointing to the Old Country authorities at the British Empire Exhibition, who believe that a second year would recoup the losses experienced this year.

It is only in a financial sense that the exhibition has been a failure. As an educational enterprise it has been a striking success and individual exhibitors reckon it a success from the business viewpoint. Canadian exhibitors are pleased and many of them would be glad of an opportunity of repeating next year.

The display of photographs of the Canadian bionist babies, entered in the empire competition, continues to prove the most attractive exhibit, and Australia has imitated it.

Trans-Canada Highway

Only One Link Remaining to Complete Auto Road Across Dominion

At the annual meeting of the Canadian Automobile Association held in Toronto, it was announced by Dr. P. E. Doobittle, who recently returned from a coast to coast motor tour, that outside of Ontario there only remained a single link to connect up a Dominion trans-continent highway and that contracts for the completion of this connection, which was in the Rockies, had now been let by the British Columbia Government.

Hon. James Lyons, Minister of Lands and Forests for Ontario, stated that there were only two gaps in the Ontario section of the trans-continent highway. The worst of these was between the Soo and Port William, but survey work was now going ahead. From Kenora to the Manitoba boundary the road was under construction and would be ready for traffic by the middle of next summer. The road from Port Arthur and Port William to Kenora would see completion within three years.

Dr. Doobittle was elected president of the association, and W. O. Roberts, son, Toronto, secretary.

Road Revenue

Automobile Tourist Traffic From United States Trebled in Last Three Years

During the past five years Canada has spent $101,000,000 in building roads, according to John B. Hartin, Commissioner of Parks for the Dominion of Canada.

From foreign tourist traffic during the same period the Dominion has received in revenue $15,000,000, which represents a large yield on the capital expenditure of the roads.

Automobile tourist traffic from the United States, according to Mr. Hartin, has trebled in the last three years. In 1921, American cars entering Canada numbered 617,387; in 1922 they totalled 1,942,387.

Would Abate Smoke Nuisance

Government of Great Britain Plans a Fuel Development Survey

The Government of Great Britain, at the instance of the secretary for mines and the department of scientific and industrial research, according to advices received by the Bankers' Trust Company of New York from its English information service, has decided to provide a basis for the development of a chemical and physical survey of the coal seams of Great Britain, to determine the possibility of replacing some 140 million tons of raw coal at present burned every year by its natural state by other and smokeless fuels obtainable from coal by carbonization and gasification. It is pointed out in this connection that if coal can be carbonized on a large scale in such a way as to yield a supply of fuel oil for the navy and mercantile marine, and an important share of motor spirit for use in motor cars and aircraft, the balance of foreign trade would be altered in favor of Great Britain, while the abatement of the smoke nuisance in towns and manufacturing districts owing to the abundance of raw coal as a fuel would have immediate and far-reaching effects upon the health and housing of the people.

Move To New Farms

Alberta Farmers Take Advantage of Government Offer to Improve Their Condition

Certificates issued by the Department of Agriculture to Southern Alberta farmers wishing to move to better pastures of the province already number eighty-five, representing about 60 families. Inquiries and applications are still coming in, and it is expected that there will be a considerable number yet taking advantage of the free transportation provided.

The farmers who have already moved have chosen widely scattered parts of the country in which to make fresh starts. Some have gone into the extreme southwest corner of the province, and some families are settling in the Westlock district, north of Edmonton. The greater numbers are spreading out at various locations between these two extremes.

Trinidad Shows War Heroes

Beautiful Monument Erected in Park At Port-of-Spain

In memory of those who fell, and in honor of those who served in the Great War, Trinidad has erected a beautiful monument. It is located in the centre of a park at Port-of-Spain, surrounded by tropical scenery. The unveiling of the monument was one of the last public acts in the colony of Governor Sir Samuel Henry Wilson, who left here July 10 to take over the governorship of Jamaica. The memorial consists of a tall, square white column, on top of which is a female figure of victory, with outstretched wings and the left arm raised aloft bearing a wreath. Four broad steps around the massive base, which supports on one side the giant figure of a Trinidad soldier protecting a wounded comrade. The cost was $50,000, raised mainly by public subscription and government contribution.

Compulsory Arbitration

Elaborate System Designed to Put An End to War

Premiera MacDonald and Herriot, backed by the delegations of all other countries at the Geneva convention, put into concrete form a programme which the Assembly of the League of Nations will study, in an effort to elaborate a satisfactory system of compulsory arbitration, designed to put an end to war, prepare the way for a conference on the reduction of armaments, and set up some satisfactory pact of guarantees and mutual assistance which will serve to make compulsory arbitration practicable.

The heads of all 46 national delegations present gave their assent to the resolution, which declared that the object is to strengthen the solidarity and security of nations throughout the world by settling, by pacific means, all disputes which may arise between them.

The attitude of the delegates demonstrated clearly that, although all the countries are ready to accept obligatory arbitration, this form of settlement of conflicts and disputes, as a security, guarantees based on the employment of force.

The Pride Of The Ocean

Britain Will Always Be Paramount Says Cunard Line Head

Although the British proportion of the world's ocean-going ships has fallen from 44 to 33 per cent. since pre-war days, Sir Thomas Royden, Chairman of the Cunard Company, is still an optimist. "Because we have an inherent instinct for the sea and because our ships are manned by the best men the world produced, this country will always be paramount in the world's shipping," he declared, at the annual prize day on board the Mercator training ship Conway.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

SEPTEMBER 21

JESUS MAKES A MISSIONARY TOUR

Golden Text: Thou shalt make me clean. Mark 1:40. Lesson: Mark 1:35-45. Devotional Reading: Psalm 65:1-7.

The Text Explained and Illuminated. Seeking Rest, verses 35-37. The word "rest" here always have imposed a heavy strain upon Jesus and the ministry at Capernaum must have left his strength spent. Early in the morning, so as not to be held back by the crowds, He left the city for solitude and communion with God in a desert place. Again and again we hear of his renewing His strength by fellowship with His Father. Prayer is still the secret of power. A grateful life is a powerful life.

Simon Peter and other disciples followed and heard this word in Jesus, "All men are seeking thee." "I wonder more and more, especially in these summer days, how anyone can get on without Christ. If there were in our services today the old convertive power: if men and women 'hit the trail'; if the blind really were brought to see; if the spiritually dead became alive; if the lame and the deaf were the old crowding that there was by Genesee's shore. What is the news down at your church? 'News! Oh, well, there isn't much in the way of news. Congregations about as usual, collections and offerings fairly good, no preacher minding.' That kind of news will never do. But tell me, what are you doing to get the light and hopeless lives are made straight and strong; that those who are brought to see, are brought to see with the powers of the first love; that Christ and his touch with all its power, are there—tell them that, and there will be no lack of crowds."

For Meatless Days

How to Serve Cheese Instead of a Fish Dish

Perhaps your family doesn't enjoy fish dinners. Perhaps you have been getting really good from fish. Or maybe your men folks work very hard and need a food higher in stimulating, energizing fuel values than fish.

Then try giving them cheese dishes instead of fish on meatless days.

You will be surprised what a lot of delicious dishes cheese can provide and how pleasant a variant it is from the endless round of steaks, chops and meat stews, and especially as a change from the unsatisfactory fish course which so many dislike.

Cheese is a very nourishing and healthful food. It is the most economical "meat dish" you can serve because cheese is such a highly concentrated food that a little of it goes a long way. A pound of cheese equals in nutrient value three pounds of beef. It is far more nourishing than the best fish, which is one of the foods lowest in calories.

Cheese is eaten uncooked, but it is capable of scores of delicious cooked dishes. Here is a suggestion that is worth trying:

Cheese and Macaroni Loaf.—½ cup macaroni broken into small pieces, 1 cup milk, 1 cup soft bread crumbs, 1 tablespoonful butter, 1 tablespoon chopped green pepper, 1 tablespoon each chopped onion and parsley, 3 eggs, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ cup Kraft Canadian cheese, rub through grater.

Cook the macaroni in boiling water until tender, and rinse in cold water. Cook the parsley, onion and pepper in a little water with butter. Pour off the water or allow it to boil away. Beat the eggs white and yolk separately. Mix all the ingredients, cutting and folding in the stiffly beaten whites at the last. Line a quart baking dish with buttered paper; turn the mixture into it; set the baking dish in a pan of hot water, and bake in a moderate oven from one-half to three-quarters of an hour. Serve with tomato sauce.

Grain Needed For Refugees

Many War Victims in Near East Are Destitute

Contributions, either of cash or of grain, are urgently required for the relief of refugees who have been ostracized from Turkey under the conditions of the Lausanne treaty, declares Frank Velg, Canadian representative of the "Save the Children" fund.

Velg reports a sympathetic attitude towards the appeal by elevator companies, grain and agrarian organizations in the three western provinces, and instructions have been sent to elevator managers to receive gifts of wheat for the purpose of the fund.

It is pointed out that the Great British, and other parts of the British Empire, are the only countries at present endeavoring to feed and clothe the large numbers of destitute war victims who arrive daily in Greece from Salonika and other points.

Velg reports that although the Near East fund of the United States is helping those who are orphans in orphanages.

New Channels Of Commerce

Sixty Per Cent. of Exhibitors at Wembley Are Delighted With Results

"Canadian cheese has found a splendid market directly through the exhibition," one of the Canadian trade commissioners at Wembley states.

"Eight thousand pounds of cheese per week are used in the grounds by the caterers and they have also introduced it in all their London cafes. A Canadian dry milk dealer has just sold his output for the next five years to a British firm, an output valued at $800,000. Our fruit display has brought European orders for more than 1,000,000 boxes. A firm of show case makers sent a small display case for the reason of being represented at the exhibition than anything else. European orders have been coming in and the firm has decided to spend $100,000 on the opening of a permanent establishment in London.

"I can say that sixty per cent. of the exhibitors here are delighted that they came to Wembley. Indirectly, business amounting to hundreds of thousands of dollars has been stimulated, and new channels of commerce opened."

Germany Using More Tobacco

Recent statistics show that the imports of raw tobacco have increased considerably as compared with those prior to the war, and this despite the decrease of the German population.

A certain man was travelling from here to Lethbridge, taking most of his household effects along with him, on a motor truck, not long ago. A friend here had a letter from him a day or so ago and he remarked that the road east of the Frank Slide was so rough that it shook all the tail feathers out of the canary, which was travelling with him in the usual cage. From our acquaintance with this truck, the road is not altogether to blame.
